Garden City, NY -- The National Association of Professional Women (NAPW) honors Dr. Christine Stueve as a 2017-2018 inductee into its VIP Woman of the Year Circle. She is recognized with this prestigious distinction for leadership in healthcare. NAPW is the nation's leading networking organization exclusively for professional women, boasting more than 850,000 members, a thriving eChapter and over 200 operating Local Chapters.

"I'm pleased to welcome Christine into this exceptional group of professional women," said NAPW President Star Jones. "Her knowledge and experience in her industry are valuable assets to her company and community."

Dr. Christine Stueve is a Licensed Doctor of Pastoral Science & Medicine, board certified in integrative medicine and licensed in pastoral biblically based counseling. "As a Doctor of Philosophy in natural medicine and neuroscience, I have the privilege of helping my patients get to the root cause of their health challenges," she explained.

Chronic health issues that affected herself, her son and her sister, inspired Dr. Stueve to explore how natural health remedies can effectively heal on every level. "I have extensive experience in working with the vital and natural healing force of the body to promote, restore and maintain health," she said. Dr. Stueve specializes in neuro-integrative and metabolic assessment, herbology, homeopathy, detoxification, craniosacral therapy (CST), integrated applied kinesiology, functional endocrinology and bioterrain analysis.

At Sano Wellness Center, which is located in Bloomington, MN, Dr. Stueve and her team provide mental, physical and spiritual health services as they help patients heal their bodies and minds using natural healthcare methods and techniques, including therapies, analyses, food supplements and herbal remedies, essential oils and more. Clients include adults and children, as well as all levels of athletes, from professional to students.

Dr. Stueve shares her knowledge about pastoral healthcare and self-defense for women (she is a first degree Black Belt in Tae Kwon Do Karate) through frequent lectures at universities, schools and churches. The Author of Dust to Diamonds, she has produced a self-defense for women DVD and will soon begin working on her second book, a clinical reference guide.

About NAPW

NAPW's mission is to provide an exclusive, highly advanced networking forum to successful women executives, professionals and entrepreneurs where they can aspire, connect and achieve. Through innovative resources, unique tools and progressive benefits, professional women interact, exchange ideas, advance their knowledge and empower each other.
